Jordan's historical importance means that there is a variety of traditional crafts which are practised by skilled local workers and, despite the fast pace of modernisation, there are increasing efforts by the state and by charities to preserve these wonderful traditions.

One example of this can be found in Madaba, where an organisation has been set up to protect the world-famous mosaics found there. These ancient mosaics are made with thousands of tiny pieces of coloured stone or tile. Mosaics are very useful to historians as they give information about the way people lived at the time and illustrate ancient maps and pictures of local events.

Probably the most ancient craft in Jordan is the creation of items made from silsal (clay). Madaba played a major role in trading pottery throughout Europe and the Arab world. Pottery was first made in the Levant over 8000 years ago. Historians have uncovered many examples of fine Nabataean pottery in both Jordan and the surrounding countries.

Pottery is still produced in the same ancient attractive style by craftsmen at Madaba today, although modern technology means the methods have changed slightly. Nevertheless, local artists are still producing beautiful works worthy of a high price.
